

Sophia's Story

Sophia Stampley, U.S. Postal Service

My cause, disaster relief, is dear to my heart. I was born and raised in the Gulf Coast area. My hometown has been very vulnerable to hurricanes, storms, and floods over the years. After Hurricane Katrina, my family and friends received overwhelming support from so many charitable organizations to help them through this crisis. CFC charities provide support and resources for communities impacted by disasters and other causes. I am so compelled to give every year to help people in need and the many causes that need financial support. The CFC is very important because it allows Federal employees the opportunity to improve the quality of life for everyone, and the charities continue to show love each year for the communities.

“My cause, disaster relief, is dear to my heart as I was born and raised in the Gulf Coast area. After Hurricane Katrina, my family and friends received overwhelming support from so many charitable organizations to help them through this crisis. CFC charities provide support and resources for communities impacted by disasters and other causes.”

